lic affairs into a chaotic state by its D. Clarence Gibboney refusal to confirm his nominees to the the former members of which he dismissed in accordance with his campaign promises.

He san that the dismissed members were without power to act and grave results might follow from the failure dis Senate to confirm his appointments. He complained especially that the Senate to confirm his appointment of James A. Hamill, who was taking the place, not of a dismissed member of the board, but of one who resigned voluntarily.

As to the possibility of the old board attempting to transact business, John W. Slocum, of Long Branch, one of the dismissed or missioners, said that the board probably would take up no important business.

The situation is this," said Governor Edwards. The former members of the day were and who were removed by me, conceiving my action to have been united. The court has a firmed their dismassal. It is my helief, and I am advised by counsel as without a legal board of public business will be interrupted and perhaps important business. means to BUSINESS and FINANCE

CUNDAY'S TRIBUNE will present a series of illuminating articles by nationally known authorities on the particular phases of the economic outlook which are just now most puzzling to men of affairs seeking to lay out their program for the new year. Their discussions are neither wooden reviews nor hazardous fortune telling, but rather an intelligent and interesting interpretation of the business barometer readings of 1920, and their probable influence and effect on the world trade in 1921.

Among the subjects covered are: The ECONOMIC OUTLOOK IN EUROPE, by Paul M. Warburg. The CREDIT OUTLOOK, by John E. Rovensky, Vice-President

National Bank of Commerce. The STATUS OF THE STOCK MARKET, by Bert E. Winsmore, of Billings, Olcott and Winsmore. The RAILWAY OUTLOOK, by Robert S. Binkerd, of the Association of Railway Executives. The OUTLOOK FOR 1921 AS LABOR SEES IT, by Samuel

The OUTLOOK FOR LABOR, by Henry R. Seager, Professor of Economics, Columbia University. The OUTLOOK FOR TRADE AND FINANCE, by W, S. Kies, Chairman, First Federal Foreign Banking Association.

The OUTLOOK FOR DOMESTIC TRADE, by Francis E. Sisson, Vice-President, Guaranty Trust Company,

The OUTLOOK FOR AGRICULTURE, By George E. Roberts, Vice-President, National City Bank.

The OUTLOOK FOR TAXATION, by E. R. A. Seligman, Professor of Political Economy, Columbia University. The OUTLOOK FOR PRICES, FOR STEEL AND TEXTILES.

by equally as authoritative writers. Naddition to the above there will be published annual tables of the fluctuations of the principal security markets during 1920; charts revealing trend in stocks and bonds since 1912, and movements in commodity prices for last hundred years; detailed analysis of fall in wholesale prices in 1920; and a summary of the principal events of the past year which had a bearing on financial and business conditions.
